N. B. Since the publication of the last catalogue a law has been passed by the Trustees requiring that no new students be admitted to the Institution under the age of fourteen years, in consequence of which the number of names which would otherwise have appeared in this catalogue has been considerably diminished. This catalogue is designed to exhibit only those who are members of the Institution at the time of publication.

The students will also receive instruction in the science of Elocution, and be required to exhibit during the whole course, frequent specimens of English Composition, and of declamation. There will be also occasional exercises in translation from Latin and Greek authors, and in Latin Composition. Frequent Forensic Disputations will also be required from the Senior and Junior classes.

The upper classes will attend a course of experimental lectures on Chemistry.—Lectures on Natural Philosophy, will be delivered to the Junior class as soon as suitable apparatus can be procured. A superior collection of apparatus for this department has been already ordered and is expected to be received in season for a course of lectures the present year. Instruction will also be communicated in Mineralogy, Geology, and to those who desire it, in Botany, as soon as circumstances will allow.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

This Department is under the general superintendence of the College Faculty; in it are taught the various branches of a practical English Education, as well as those preparatory to the Collegiate Department. The department is under the immediate care of a qualified instructor, and such assistants as may from time to time be found necessary.

BOOKS.—Kirkham's English Grammar, Woodbridge's large or small Geography, according to the advancement of the student, Adams' Arithmetic, Worcester's Ancient and Modern history. In the Languages Adams' Latin Grammar, (Gould's Edition,) Goodrich's Greek Grammar, Latin Reader, Greek Reader, Virgil, Sallust, Cicero's Selec Orations.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

Prayers are attended in the College Chapel, every morning and evening, with the reading of the Scriptures and Sacred Music, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the Students are required to be present. There are also religious exercises on every Sabbath, in the College Chapel, at which all the students are required to be present, except such asfrom conscientious scruples prefer to attend some other place of worship. To all such, perfect liberty is given to follow the dictates of their own conscience.

COMMENCEMENT—VACATIONS—EXAMINATIONS.

The Annual Commencement will be holden on the third Wednesday in September, in each year. There will be an examination of each class at the close of each term.

There will be two Vacations in each year—the first from the third Wednesday in September, eight weeks—the second from the Wednesday preceeding the 5th day of April, four weeks.

EXPENSES.

1. ANNUAL EXPENSES EXCLUSIVE OF VACATIONS:

Tuition, ...	$20 00
Room Rent, ...	10 00
Ordinary Repairs, ...	1 50
Wood and lights for Recitation rooms, and Sweeping, . . .	1 50
Board at cost, say about . . .	50 00
Washing about 30 cents per doz.
Total, ...	$83 00

The price of board in the above estimate, is that charged in the College Commons. It varies with the price of provisions and other circumstances, from 45 to 60 dollars per annum. The estimate given above varies little from the common price. All clothing must be distinctly marked, before being sent to wash. The expenses of books, stationary, fuel, and lights, do not admit of an exact statement, but may be estimated from eight to ten dollars per annum—also the students may be charged a small sum for printing catalogues, schemes, etc. After the present term students attending the Lectures in Chemistry and Natural Philosophy will be charged $2. 50 for each course for the use of apparatus.

With regard to apparel no general estimate can be made, as it must always depend upon the choice of each individual. It is sufficient to say, that plainness and economy in this particular are warmly recommended.

2. Outfit.—The expenses of an outfit are chiefly for furnishing a room. These are not annual expenses, nor are they borne by one alone, each occupant of the room being expected to defray his part of the expense. The most essential articles are, a plain table, two or three chairs, a pail, a wash bowl and pitcher, andirons, shovel and tongs, bedsted and bed clothing.

With the exception of a bed these articles can be easily purchased here at a reasonable rate. But in all cases when it can be done, it is advisable for a student to bring a bed and bed clothes with him. The expenses of the other articles must vary with the student's habits of economy. For articles of a plain and suitable kind it will be from 9 to 12 dollars for a room, or from 5 to 6 dollars for each student.

The furniture if carefully used, can be sold when no longer needed, after a reasonable deduction. The same is true of books.

A bed and bed clothes, if purchased here, will cost from 10 to 30 dollars.

If any student needlessly injures the buildings, books, etc. of the institution he is liable to be charged to the extent of the damage.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

No students are received under the age of fourteen years. Every applicant for admission is expected to furnish satisfactory testimonials of good moral character—and those coming from other colleges are required to bring recommendations from the colleges from which they come.

PAYMENT IN ADVANCE.

All students will be expected at the commencement of each term, to pay in advance, the bills for tuition, room rent, and incidental expenses, and those who board in the Commons, the sum of fifteen dollars towards defraying the expenses of board, in all $31 50. But if any student shall leave the Commons before his board shall have amounted to the above named sum the balance shall be refunded.

MANUAL LABOR AND BENEVOLENT LIBRARY.

Opportunity will be given in both departments, to employ a portion of each day in manual labor, either on the farm or in the work-shop, by means of which, a part of the expenses of a course of education may be defrayed.

A Benevolent Library has also been founded with a view to aid indigent students. It is designed to contain the text books in both departments.—For the use of these books only a small tax is paid. All of the students have weekly access to the College Library consisting of about 1,500 volumes.

GENERAL RULES.

In all their intercourse with their Instructors, and with each other, the students are expected to observe those principles of benevolence, honor, integrity and affection which are essential to the welfare of every well regulated community, and which are alike founded on the laws of God, and on the reason and conscience of man: in the pursuit of their studies, to exhibit industry, diligence, and energy, and to avoid all objects, and pursuits, which tend to divide and weaken the mind: to observe the Sabbath, avoid profaneness, and vice of every kind and to abstain from all that tends to injure thier own interests or the public good.

NOTICE.

In consideration of having excluded from the existing Departments of the Institution, lads under 14 years of age, the Trustees will open a PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT in the town of Jacksonville, on the Wednesday preceding the 5th day of April next, designed for the accommodation of those of all ages, who may desire to attend. Good accommodations and a well qualified teacher will be provided.
